HIGH AIMS OF Y. W. C. A. IN HUMANITY'S CAUSE

To have a part in moulding the mothers of the future, to be permitted to share the glorious privilege of guiding the teen-age girl to havens of safety and strength, to help instill lofty American ideals into the woman who comes to us from foreign shores, to aid in brightening the horizon of the industrial girl by giving her better housing, safer environment, special educational opportunities, to help strengthen the body and mind of the indoor worker through wholesome recreation, these are some of the privileges offered by this great Christian movement, this unique Civic organization, the Young Women's Christian Association.

Born in 1866, of a desire on the part of thirty Boston women to promote the moral and religious welfare of young women dependent on their own exertions for support, it has broadened and strengthened through the years until it is able to show to the world today an unprecedented record of systematic growth and achievement and a membership of millions extending over all parts of the globe.

Much of its war program was undertaken at the request of the United States government. It has a post-war program which includes a world outlook. Its vision knows no boundaries or color lines. It asks but little of each one of us. It promotes returns out of all proportion to our gifts. It gives to girls everywhere unsuspected fields of opportunity. It gives to employers greater efficiency in service. It gives to the future generations richer companionships, truer helpmeets, more worthy mothers.

As the Young Women's Christian Association launches its educational and financial campaign, it offers to us the best investment in the world—an interest in the welfare of girls everywhere. No outlay brings better dividends, no expenditure brings greater results.

MUGGSY.

Suppose you were a nice girl, but loved to play ball, and climb trees, and go swimming—and just be a regular tomboy;

And suppose your old maid aunt got disgusted with you and sent you, disguised as a boy, to a woman-hating uncle;

And suppose you had to cut out candy and pretty clothes, and smoke big, black cigars, and swear;

And suppose that after going through with all of this you fell in love with an awfully good-looking young man; and suppose he thought all the time that you were a boy;

Then, suppose you were afraid to tell the truth, because your uncle would disinherit you; and suppose another girl also liked this young man;

What in the world would you do? That's a baffling question, isn't it? But Jackie Saunders didn't suppose. She went ahead and did things. In "Muggsy" she "steps in where angels fear to tread"—and triumphs. That's why the photoplay
